

ARTISTIC FRAUD

OF NEWFOUNDLAND

“Magic in the theatre is rare to witness and hard to describe, but that indeed is what’s happening at Factory Theatre where Oil and Water opened on Wednesday night. You will be transformed by this story which manages to combine the familiar with the unexpected, the simple with the complex and the carefully structured with the seemingly spontaneous...If you wanted a definition of theatre at its most imaginative, I would simply direct you toward Oil and Water.”
 - Richard Ouzounian, Toronto Star

"The production is another splendid one from Artistic Fraud...a series of powerful emotional moments that build to a rousing, moving conclusion."

-Jon Kaplan, Now Magazine

"Chafe paints a bleak but beautiful picture...[Keiley] hits all the right notes...the rescue and rebirth of Phillips is truly movingly presented..."

-J. Kelly Nestruck, The Globe & Mail

“Contrary to its name, acclaimed St. John’s company Artistic Fraud of Newfoundland deals in genuine art, which it proves once again with Oil and Water, its beautiful retelling of the story of the late Lanier Phillips. ...Uplifting...delivers a simple message with great eloquence.”

-Martin Morrow, TheGridTO
